DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-23 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 15-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention, read as "an instrument" is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Since instrument could be presented in either software format or hardware format, even though the specification mentioned the instrument is electronic instrument, but the limitation in the claims does not reflect this definition.

Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1, 8 and 15, recite the limitation "the intended application" in line 10. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims.

As per claims 1, 8 and 15, it is uncertain the meaning of "each received communication is intended", i.e., all communication should have a purpose, why the system allow the communication occurred with no purpose. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1, 3-4, 6-8, 10-11, 13-15, 17-18 and 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Linley et al. (US 6,766,279).

8. As per claims 1 and 3-4, Linley teaches the invention as claimed including a method for remotely controlling an instrument, comprising [col. 1, line 54 – col. 2, line 13]:

receiving at least one communication from each of at least two clients, wherein each received communication conforms to a client specific protocol [col. 2, lines 14-23; col. 5, lines 29-54];

determining from which client each received communication was received [col. 6, lines 1-23];

determining an application resident on the instrument for which each received communication is intended, wherein at least one application is resident on the instrument; and transferring each received communication to the intended application [col. 6, line 24 – col. 7, lone 4].

9. As per claim 6, Linley teaches the obtained additional communications are modified to produce client messages which are in appropriate format for the client [col. 6, lines 1-23].

10. As per claim 7, Linley teaches at least one obtained additional communication is in response to one of the communications received from one of the at least two clients, wherein the application tracks from which client the received communication originated, and wherein the application uses that tracking information to direct the at least one obtained additional communication to the client from which the received communication originated [col. 6, line 49 – col. 7, line 4].

11. As per claims 8, 10-11 and 13-14, since they are computer program claims of claims 1, 3-4 and 6-7, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1, 3-4 and 6-7 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

13. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

14. Claims 2, 5, 9, 12, 16 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Linley et al. (US 6,766,279) as applied to claims 1, 3-4, 6-8, 10-11, 13-15, 17-18 and 20-23, in view of Ezekeel (US 5,790,977).

15. As per claims 2, 5, 9, 12, 16 and 19, Linley teaches the invention substantially as claimed in claim 1. Linley does not specifically teach the protocol is SCPI protocol. However, Ezekeel on the other hand teaches using SCPI protocol communicating with instrument [col. 3, lines 44-59]. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include utilize SCPI protocol in Linley's system because it is a an instrument industry standard protocol [Ezekeel, col. 3, lines 53-54].

Conclusion

16. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Thomson US 2002/0184326, Schauser US 6,522,334, Rhoda et al. US 20040216139 and Harley., Jr. US 2005/0175031 disclose instrument remote control system.
